Dōgo Time Exploration "Dōgo Toki (time) meguri"

Dōgo Onsen Honkan sounds the Toki Daiko ("time drum") to announce the time three times each day. Dōgo Time Exploration offers recommendations for walks around town based on the theme of "time," which may indicate the different timeframes during which various types of atmospheres can be experienced, the changing of the seasons, or cultural customs passed down over times past.

- ### 2 Asuka-no-Yu

飛鳥乃湯泉

The Tsubaki-no-Mori ("camellia forest") in the courtyard recreates the beautiful scene of Prince Shōtoku's visit to bathe here in year 596. About 160 trees of camellia, Matsuyama's city flower, were planted here, and many flowers bloom on one tree after another.

- ### 3 Sora-no-Sanpomichi (sky promenade & footbath)

空の散歩道・足湯

There is a garden where visitors can enjoy seasonal flowers, including a trellis of wisteria, as well as cherry blossoms in the spring, hydrangea in summer, maple leaves in autumn, and camellias in winter. There is also a monument engraved with haiku in the original handwriting by poet MASAOKA Shiki, whose first name sounds the same as the Japanese word for "four seasons."

- ### 4 Hōgon-ji Temple

宝蔵寺

The birthplace of Ippen Shōnin, the founder of Ji-shū, a Japanese Buddhist sect, and the creator of the roots of Bon dance. Birds chirp on the grounds, which is decorated by cherry blossoms in the spring, and by the colored foliage of two large ginkgo trees and maple in the fall.

- ### 5 Isaniwa-jinja Shrine

伊佐爾波神社

Here you will see one of only three examples in Japan of the shrine architecture Hachiman-zukuri in proper shape, and it is officially designated as an Important Cultural Property. The area is surrounded by camellia hedges. Many native trees, such as Japanese blue oak and Kakuremino, create a forest for the village shrine.

- ### 6 Dōgo-kōen Park

道後公園

While famous for its cherry blossoms, the park can be enjoyed for its many seasonal flowers and trees. As it was formerly a medieval castle site, you will find plants that have been growing in Japan since ancient times. There is also a camellia forest on the hill to the west.
